

Searching for ecological, social and humane operation models S21517

1.1.2019-31.12.2021

Transnational cooperation

The aim of the project is to find new European models for combining the long-term unemployment and the circular economy. The goal can be divided into the following subgoals:

1. To compare the cooperation of The Centre of Sustainable Development with similar players in Bulgaria, in Sweden and in the other European countries.
2. To develop and to find new operating models together with international partners.
3. To disseminate a well-established employment model for other European Union countries.
4. To establish a network of international actors.

To employ by the project ideas 30 long-term unemployed during the project, either for pay subsidies, apprenticeships, internships or for small businesses.
